

Cape Town Holocaust Centre's The White Rose Art & Writing Project

1

The wind howled. The moon wept...
They stood watching.
Watching from their windows.
Afraid to act. Afraid to speak up.
We perished.
And still they stood watching.

Extract from the poem They Stood Watching by Simon Gadd, Vista Nova, Grade 9 (Highly Commended, Junior Writing category)

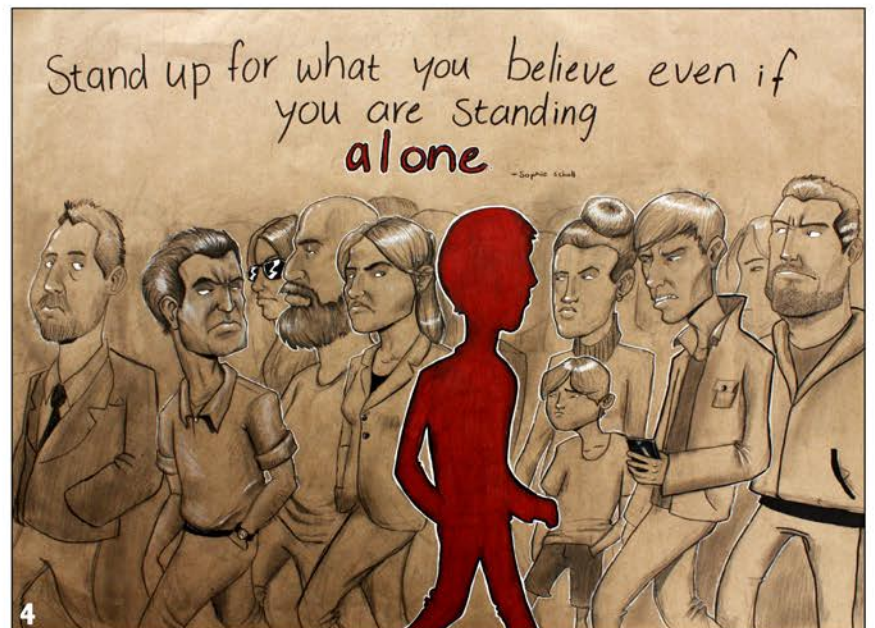

2

Theme for 2014: Resisting Injustice

3

4

1. Letters from Manenberg to Auschwitz: What's Right, What's Left – Group installation, Curro Meridian Pinehurst, Grade 9
2. The White Rose - Sabrina Page-McDonald, Rustenburg Girls High School, Grade 11 (Highly Commended, Senior Art category)
3. Work Set Them Free - Emma MacArthur, Rustenburg Girls High School, Gr 11
4. Stand Up for What You Believe In - Chloe Boetcher, Springfield Convent School, Grade 9 (Winner, Junior Art category)

5

But now the ocean has not yet
Forgiven.
Have we learned anything?
I think not.
Only some have the courage to take a stand
Lend a helping hand
Some is not enough

Today, on the streets
Innocents are killed, children, teachers
Parents
For their pigment, their religion
Or their mother tongue
Not much has changed
Why can't we let people just be?

Extract from the poem Change by Margot Wentzel,
Chesterhouse, Grade 10 (Winner, Junior Writing category)

7

Wake up.
Stretch your bruised and misused knuckles
out before you.
Inhale, the tantalising smell of eggs, waiting for you - you - downstairs.
Ignoring the all-too-familiar smell of burning,
toast in this case, you enter the kitchen.

Open your mouth.
Eggs in.
Wurst in.
Toast in.
Tea in.
Lies out.

Extract from the poem Breakfast by Dominique McFall,
Rustenburg Girls High School, Grade 11
(Winner, Senior Writing category)

6

5. Murder of Innocence – Summer Thompson, Rustenburg Girls High School, Grade 11 (Winner, Senior Art category)

6. If we bear all this suffering - Micaela Alsemgeest, Springfield Convent, Grade 9 (Highly Commended, Junior Art category)

7. Standing Alone - Katy Chan, Rustenburg Girls High School, Grade 11 (Highly Commended, Senior Art category)

8. Murder (detail) - Zeenat Jacobs, Rustenburg Girls High School, Grade 11

8

Thank you to all the learners, educators, judges, donors and CTHC staff.
We look forward to seeing the White Rose Project grow even more in 2015!